Celebrating 250 Years

Dear Friends and Supporters,

You are cordially invited to join us as we commemorate the 250th Anniversary of the Charles Hammond House, a timeless landmark and testament to colonial era architecture.

Date: 11/15/2025
Time: 1:00 P.M. - 4:00 P.M.
Location: 908 W Martintown Rd,
North Augusta, SC

In collaboration with the Edgefield County Historical Society's annual fall meeting, please join us for an afternoon of live colonial artisan exhibits, refreshments, and reflection as we celebrate 250 years of architectural history and community.

We hope to see you there!

Warm regards,
The Charles Hammond House Committee

CHARLES HAMMOND HOUSE
est. 1775

THE CHARLES HAMMOND HOUSE

Dating from the Revolutionary War era, the Charles Hammond House is the oldest home in continuous use on Martintown Road. The original two-story building was of pine and clapboard, containing five rooms with a central hallway. The interior was decorated with fine mill work, carved mantels, and imported English wallpaper. In the 1830's, Greek Revival influenced columned front and side porches were added in addition to four rooms.

The outside area was graced by an authentic English formal garden surrounded by handmade brick. On the east side the yard included a kitchen building, a 40-foot brick-lined well and a brick-lined vault for keeping food cool. In the back yard was a smokehouse.

Early owners of this lovely old Martintown Road home were all members of the Hammond family. Hammonds occupied the house from 1765 until 1942 when it left the family. The house was listed in the National Register October 2, 1973.